

BID OF $11,885 ACCEPTED FOR 135-FT. BRIDGE

Dover Contractor to Build Span Between Cumberland, Free- dom Townships.

FILING SYSTEM CONTRACT GIVEN

Walter H. Drawbaugh, Dover, York county, was awarded the contract for the building of a 135-foot, double span, steel deck girder bridge over Marsh creek between Cumberland and Freedom townships by the Adams county commissioners at their weekly meeting this morning. Drawbaugh was the lowest of five bidders with a price of $11,885.

At the same session the commissioners accepted the bid of Remington Rand for the furnishing of a complete set of supplies to be used in the setting up of a permanent registration system in Adams county. Ten bidders had submitted offers last Tuesday, but the contract was not awarded until this morning. Commissioners stated that the Remington Rand company had submitted the lowest bid for a complete set of the type of filing system they had selected, which complies fully with the state act providing for the permanent registration. The successful bidder had asked $2,829.50.

The contract with Mr. Drawbaugh was not executed this morning, but will be signed as soon as the paper is drawn up by the county solicitor and other legal requirements are met by the contractor. The bridge, which is to cross Marsh creek near the John Waybright farm, not far north of the Mason and Dixon line, will have two 64-foot spans and will have a 20-foot roadway.

The plans for the structure were drawn by James B. Long, Norris-town, consulting engineer, and have been approved by the state department of forests and waters.

The unsuccessful bidders on the bridge contract were: William O. Just, Phoenixville, $13,900; Thomas Bennett and Hunter, Incorporated, Westminster, Maryland, $19,500; Reed and Kuhn, Everett, Pa., $17,266.36; and Walker Brothers, Chambersburg, $13,890. Mr. Just was the contractor for the $7,600 structure built across Rock creek by the commissioners last year between Cumberland and Mount Joy townships.

VanDevanter Leaves Court

Washington, May 18 (AP).—Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter announced today his retirement from the Supreme court, effective June 2, thus clearing the way for President Roosevelt to make his first appointment to the high bench. The 78-year-old justice, who has served 26 years in the court, made known his intention in a letter to the President.

Mr. Roosevelt immediately wrote a brief acknowledgment in long hand, extending to the jurist "every good wish" and inviting him to call at the White House before he leaves Washington.

The President's letter said: "My dear Mr. Justice Van Devanter:

"I have received your letter of this morning, telling me that you are retiring from regular active service on the bench on June 2, 1937.

"May I as one who has had the privilege of knowing you for many years, extend to you every good wish.

"Before you leave Washington for the summer it would give me great personal pleasure if you would come in to see me.

"Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Van Devanter has long been considered a conservative member of the court. His retirement brought from Chief Justice Hughes a statement that the court would suffer a "most serious loss."

Judge Sheely to Conduct an Experimental 'Motion Court' To Speed Up Legal Business

For the convenience of attorneys and to expedite court business at no added expense to the county, Judge W. C. Sheely announced this morning that he intends to conduct an experiment in court procedure here with the establishment of occasional sessions of motion court to be held in the judicial chambers instead of the court room.

The first session of its kind will be held the morning of Saturday, May 29, beginning at 10 o'clock. Judge Sheely will be in his office at that time to receive attorneys who have matters of formal business, such as the presentation of petitions or other formal or routine matters.

The session will be held without assistance of any court officials. Every day's session of open court in the court room costs the county about $20 in pay of court messengers, tipstaves, etc., in addition to the cost of heating the large room in winter months.

Under the new plan, Judge Sheely can adjourn the sessions in his chambers after he has sat for several hours to receive current court business matters and then turn over to the clerk and the prothonotary for filing any papers that may have been presented during the session.

It is Judge Sheely's plan to arrange sessions of motion court in chambers so that a court session of some sort will be held at least every two weeks. Had Judge Sheely not planned the extra session May 29, there would have been no regular meeting of open court until June 14 and all papers that must be presented in court would have been held up until that time.

At the sessions in chambers only formal matters of business may be transacted. No hearings will be held, arguments heard or sentences passed.

Other of the motion court sessions are planned at other times in the year when there are long intervals between court sessions listed on the calendar.

The latter will tell of legion activities in flood relief and disaster work. Special guests for the evening will include Adjutant General Frederick B. Kerr; State Treasurer Clair F. Ross; John J. At the meeting Monday evening the local legion post accepted invitations to participate in the Memorial Day exercises and parades at Biglerville at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, May 30; the Gettysburg colored Memorial services at 1:30 o'clock on the same afternoon, and the York Springs services the afternoon of Saturday, May 29.

The Lentz post has issued invitations to the Hanover, Biglerville, and Littlestown posts of the American Legion to march with it in the Memorial Day procession here the afternoon of May 31, preceding the exercises at the national cemetery.

3 New Members

Contemplating an elaborate celebration of Armistice Day, November 11, when a legion pilgrimage to Gettysburg may be participated in by legionnaires from all sections of the state, Commander Howard Sheffer on Monday evening named a general committee on preparations for the day. Leroy H. Winebrenner heads the group that will secure a speaker and make other arrangements. The suggestion that a state-wide Gettysburg pilgrimage be conducted next fall will be taken before the Pennsylvania legion convention in York in August.

Three new members were elected Monday evening, bringing the total roster to within three of the highest point ever reached here. There are now 211 members. In 1934 there were 214. The members added at this session were Colonel J. L. Barton and Thomas J. Richards, both of Gettysburg, and Edwin J. Kirschner, McSherrystown.

About 40 members attended the meeting with Commander Sheffer in the chair.

FATHER OF BOY KILLED BY TRUCK AWARDED $1,900

Agreement Is Reached in $5,000 Damage Action Against York Countian.

VICTIM, AGED 10, DIED DECEMBER 26

A directed verdict for $1,900 in favor of Foster Griest, Reading township, father of a 10-year-old boy who died last December 26 when the wagon on which he was riding was hit by a loaded coal truck, ended a $5,000 damage suit in Adams county court this morning.

The verdict was against Paul E. Lloyd, Bridgeton, Fawn township, York county, driver of the truck that inflicted the fatal injury. Griest had asked $5,000 for the death of his son.

Agreement Reached

Counsel for the litigants had reached an agreement on the amount of damages before the case came to trial and asked the court to direct the jury to find the verdict in Griest's favor in the agreed amount. The costs of the case must be paid by Lloyd.

Following the accident Lloyd was charged with involuntary manslaughter by a highway patrolman. He entered a plea of "no defense" in January court and was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail and pay the county $5 and the costs of the case. He was paroled March 22 for one year.

Chester Griest, 10, son of the plaintiff in the damage suit, was the victim of the collision. He died in the Hanover hospital a short time after the accident.

Puts Youth on Probation

The jury that returned the verdict had been held over from the regular April session of common pleas court. It included: Clarence Wilson, Mrs. Elsie McCall, Ida Group, Dorsey Robert, J. Arthur Boyd, Ben H. Elme, John H. Sell, W. C. Todt, Mrs. William Cowan, Levi Zepp, E. H. Lower and A. A. Scott. They were discharged finally after the verdict was read.

Judge W. C. Sheely this morning placed Guy A. Martin, West Chester had charged with the theft of a $5.50 first-aid kit, on probation for two years with instructions to finish high school, secure employment during his spare time and pay the costs in installments. York authorities have lodged a detainer here for the youth on a bicycle theft charge.

put trees or butt walnut pared from the base of trees that were not cut down, but "dug out" to preserve the matchless natural grain design of the wood at the top of the root system. Light striped zebra wood is used as a trimming in the decoration of suites of darker woods.

Use Million Feet of Lumber
There are suites of solid American maple. Bleached bird's eye maple adds a light touch to other matched suites.

All the types, designs and varieties of woods go to indicate what a volume of work is handled at the local factories where over 1,000,000 board feet of lumber are turned into furniture. The lumber used at the local plants in a year, if laid end to end in boards an inch thick and a foot wide, would reach from Gettysburg nearly to the California forests where some of the choice veneers have come from, or to coastal cities in northern South American cities that shipped zebra wood to Gettysburg.

Described as the equal of the best private furniture company displays, the exhibition of the products of the local company will continue for 10 days with the day-time hours reserved for businessmen, but the evening devoted to the entertainment of the public.

18th Century Patterns Popular
A. C. Mowitz, Philadelphia consulting designer who designed practically all of the furniture on display at the York street show rooms, said, "I have visited furniture shows in all parts of the country and this is one of the best. Not more than three or four shows in New York or any other part of the nation can equal it."

Speaking of the trend in furniture designs, Mr. Mowitz pointed to the general plain square designs with curving front lines breaking the severity of the straight outline. No radical departures in design are seen in this year's patterns as compared with those of 1936. Well designed hardware, tending toward modern streamlines, is being used in place of ornamentation in the design of the furniture itself. Eighteenth century patterns are popular, he stated, and are particularly strong in dining and bedroom suites.

He said he was not with Mrs. Tierman at all on Saturday and also denied assertions attributed to her that he had given her a ring and sought to marry her.

LAW CRACKS DOWN ON SLOW DRIVERS

St. Paul, Minn. (AP)—Both the police drivers and the gay drivers face trouble in Minnesota. A new state traffic code cracks down on the speedsters but the other extremes also are covered by the law. Persons driving "unreasonably" slow to the detriment of traffic are subject to arrest as also are the slow drivers who challenge persons trying to pass them and speed up.

TWILIGHT BALL ASSURED FANS

District Ward League Definitely Organized; Games Start Next Monday.

Gettysburg baseball fans are assured of twilight games during the coming months following action taken Monday evening at the fire engine house when a district ward league was definitely established.

Four teams will comprise the league and games will be played each Monday and Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock on the high school athletic field. The schedule, which will be announced within a few days, will open Monday, May 24.

The borough has been divided into four sections, comparable to the political districts and all players within their zones are urged to get in touch with the district manager.

The following district boundaries and managers have been selected: District 1, Lloyd Palmer, manager, east of Carlisle street and north of York street; district 2, John Ulrich, manager, west of Carlisle street and north of Chambersburg street and Springs avenue; district 3, Ivan Kitzmiller, manager, south of Chambersburg street and Springs avenue and west of Baltimore street; district 4, east of Baltimore street and south of York street. All boundary lines may be extended a mile beyond the borough limits to include players within that area.

Paul Anzengruber, York street, was named treasurer of the league. No other officers were elected.

Edward Plank Jr., proprietor of the Gettysburg Rod and Gun club, has offered a trophy to the winning team.

ARMY AIR ACCIDENTS SHOW SHARP DROP

Washington (AP)—Army flying experts estimate that more than 50 per cent of the airplane crashes in the army air corps are attributable to personal error, the remainder to mechanical elements.

The number of accidents is being reduced yearly. The rate was 1.41 for each 1,000 hours flown in 1935, while in 1936 it was 0.83. The fatal accident rate has decreased from 0.592 in 1921 to 0.081 in 1936 for each 1,000 hours flown.

BIGLERVILLE LOST

Biglerville high school's baseball team dropped a 5-3 decision to the Elizabethtown high team on the latter's field Monday afternoon.

WEDDING DINNER

A wedding dinner was served Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Wagner, Aspers, in honor of the son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Plank, who were married Saturday morning in the New Oxford Lutheran church. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Plank, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stock and daughter, June, Mr. and Mrs. James Black and son, James, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Emory Plank, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geisler and daughters, Marie and Miriam, and son, Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Turner and son, Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Wagner and sons, Maurice and Joseph.

LOOKING AROUND

A FITTING tribute it would be if the Gettysburg college baseball team presented its genial coach the championship of the Eastern Pennsylvania intercollegiate conference for the second straight year on Saturday when "Ira Plank" day will be observed on the college campus. On Saturday the Bullets meet Bucknell here in their final conference game. To date the locals have won three league games in as many attempts. On Wednesday Muhlenberg plays here and Saturday the Thundering Herd will be met. Both teams are worthy opponents and if the local aggregation plays the ball it is capable of two victories should result which would mean the 1937 title. You can bet your last cent Ira's boys will be a hustling outfit in both games.

Committeemen in charge of the testimonial banquet for Ira Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock at Hotel Gettysburg report that the tickets are rapidly being purchased and again urge anyone desiring reservations to do so immediately. The price is $1.25 per plate.

FEW, if any, college baseball coaches enjoy the fine record established by Ira since he took over the coaching duties at Gettysburg college just 25 years ago. During that time his teams have been consistent winners and have met and defeated some of the strongest teams in the country. To date his teams have won 179 games while losing only 105 for a percentage of .628. That's the championship ball in any man's league.

The race in the Adams county interscholastic league is one of the closest in years. New Oxford sets the pace with three wins and no losses while Fairfield and Biglerville are deadlocked for second place with four wins and but one defeat. New Oxford is at the top of the heap mainly due to the sensational hurling of Charley Byers, who has two no-hit, no-run games to his credit. Arendtsville will get a look at Byers' curves this afternoon when it plays a postponed game at New Oxford.

Although definite areas from which players may be drawn have been established for the district ward league the officials granted one exception at the meeting Monday evening. John Ulrich, manager of the second district where the baseball crop is admittedly scarce, was permitted to use W. Weikert, J. Weikert, "Bud" McDonnell and George Kennel during the coming seasons. All are from the rural sections.

FAIRFIELD HI IN EASY WIN

Fairfield high school's baseball team moved into a tie for second place in the Adams county interscholastic baseball league by smothering York Springs high at York Springs Monday afternoon, 21-1.

Nine runs in the first inning enabled the victors to coast through to an easy triumph. Singley led the attack for the victors with four singles and a double. Donaldson collected a pair of singles, double and triple.

LOCALS READY FOR MUHL '9'

Plankmen Seek 4th Straight In Game With Muhlenberg Wednesday.

The Gettysburg college baseball team will seek its fourth straight victory Wednesday afternoon when Muhlenberg comes here for a conference game. The contest will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Cocher Ira Plank is expected to use "Wally" Witman on the mound although "Turney" Ecker is ready for action and may be given the starting assignment.

The Bullets have finally shaken off their batting slump that cost them several games in the earlier part of the season. Against Drexel the locals smashed over 18 runs and collected 14 more off of the veteran Dickinson squad for a total of 32 runs in two games.

Raymond will return to third base for the game with the remainder of the infield being composed of Supperka, Gulden and Weems. Worley, Yevak and Yunaska will patrol the outfield while O'Neill will do the receiving.

Following Wednesday's game the Bullets next meet Bucknell here Saturday afternoon.

MAJESTIC THEATER

It remained for a young girl secretary at the First National studios, Luci Ward by name, to turn out a powerful melo-drama in "Mountain Justice," which will show at the Majestic theater on Wednesday only.

Miss Ward had never written a scenario of her own before, but she is said to have made a smashing debut with this one, and, of course, she is a scenarist from now on.

"Mountain Justice" is a study of life and love, combating ignorance, fanaticism and backwardness in a hill-country community. It co-stars Josephine Hutchinson and George Brent, and was directed by that professor of realism, Michael Curtiz, whose most recent triumph was the sensational "Charge of the Light Brigade."

Miss Hutchinson is a young mountaineer girl who has a chance to live in the outside world for a time, and returns with ambitions to improve the conditions of the native people. In this she is opposed by a cruel, bitter father, played by Robert Barrat.

MAN SUES CITY FOR TRIMMING ITS OWN TREE

Lincoln, Neb. (AP)—Andrew Stohman wanted an elm tree in front of his home "topped," so he called the city parks department. There wasn't anyone at home when the park department employes called, but they trimmed a tree they thought "needed it." Stohman filed a claim against the city for $500 damages, alleging the wrong tree was trimmed.

Park Commissioner Orin S. Copeland investigated, then said: "It doesn't make any difference. The tree involved is in a parkway, and belongs to the city."

In the second year of their experiments with power driven airplanes, the Wright brothers made 105 successful flights near Dayton, Ohio.

Roger Babson, the statistician, says wages are not determined by the cost of living but by the number of unemployed who stand ready to take vacant positions.

(Communicated)

On Wednesday, the 27th of April, it was your correspondent's good fortune and pleasure to attend a very brilliant wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George E.
Plank, of Franklin township.The occasion was the union of their youngest daughter, Miss Terzie, to D. I. Grove, a scholarly and accomplished young gentleman of Waynesboro.While the large company of invited friends and neighbors were waiting, the McKnightstown band appeared and rendered some excellent music. Immediately on the arrival of the groom and his party, who came in hacks from Chambersburg, being at once met by the bride elect, the happy couple advanced to the music of a select "wedding march," by the band into the parlor and were united in holy matrimony by the Rev. J. F. Oiler, of Waynesboro.The waiters were L. J. Kennedy and Miss Effie Kittinger. Much credit is due to the ushers, J. W.
Kittinger and Miss Ida Butt.After the ceremony and congratulations were over, the company proceeded to discuss the merits of the table; which was burdened and decorated with great abundance and variety. Over one hundred persons took dinner.After being treated to several fine selections by the band, the bridal party took hacks for Chambersburg,when they would start on an extended tour through the west.One of the strange features of the feast was the absence of wine, which was much to the gratification of many and the surprise of some.May their future be as bright as their present prospects indicate is the fond wish of I. Witness.Personal.—Rev. John Jamison will preach in the United Presbyterian church next Saturday morning, and the communion will be administered

WORK AND PLAY

I don't like work. I'd rather play.
And do the pleasant things all day.
I hate the clock that rings at seven!I'd rather sleep until eleven; But no one pays a living rate To any one for sleeping late.I don't like work. Sometimes I wish That I could walk a stream and fish, But why, I mention that they say:
"We don't want fishermen today.
If fishing you prefer to go, When we want trout, we'll let you know."I don't like work. The whole day through I'd rather push a billiard cue; But when I say: "I'm good at pool,"The superintendents all grow cool And say: "Perhaps you'll think it queer,
But we've no billiard tables here."I don't like work. I'd rather play At golf on every sunny day, But still no money can I make Though ninety once a year I break.
Employers turn away and scoff When I admit my choice is golf.

CHRISTOPHER'S SUGGESTION
"N FLYING around," Christopher said, "I have often seen an automobile going along with a much larger automobile behind and I've noticed people use these for camping.""A trailer!" exclaimed Willy Nilly, who felt better at once at thethought they could all go away.
"You see," he explained to the doctor, "my crow has suggested that we take a trip with a trailer. It's a good idea because I have an automobile Two-Ways, as you know, and I could get a trailer from the next town where I'm sure they have one or two. I wonder, Doctor, if you'd mind asking them to bring it over before the end of the week? I can pay for it as soon as I can go to the bank.""That would be a splendid trip," the doctor replied. "You'd have a complete change. I think it would be great for you.""In fact," said Willy Nilly, "if you'll be so good, I'll give you a note to the bank and you can get the money out for me. They know you, there, and then you must let me pay for this visit.""One more thing," barked Rip.
"You know the circus people left money for us to repair the stairs in the Empty House. Couldn't the doctor ask a carpenter to come over and do that for us? You don't want to have to come home after the trip to find a lot of chores undone.""Now what is he saying?" asked the doctor, who was very much amused by Willy Nilly's friends.When he heard, he considered Rip a very bright dog to have thought of such a thing. And then the doctor left.All the Puddle Muddlers could talk of was the trip they were soon to take.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

WHAT YOU DON'T SAY

WE REGRET a plenty what we often do say—but we don't have to worry about things that we do not say. We do not have to apologize for what we leave out of a letter, or go to court for it. What you don't say isn't held against you.One of the most valuable lessons of life to learn is that of silence.
One of the most interesting writers I know of is a man who talks little. I have sat for hours with him in a brilliant group of men and women and watched him listen.The smoking compartment of a train is a very democratic club.
There you will listen to all sorts of talk. Usually you will have about all of the talkers sized up—excepting the one who sits there and says nothing. He is the one who always interests me most, for he arouses ray curiosity. Usually, also, he is the one who knows the most. What you don't say puts you upon a high pedestal before those who wonder what and who you are!

Genius in art is what the artist leaves out.

I like the salesman who sells me in the first five minutes. Seeing the face of a man convinces you that he will make a good friend. I once read that Tennyson and Carlyle would often visit each other and sit for hours smoking their pipes—saying nothing. But you may be sure that both had a good time!What you say, somehow, brands you, sets you apart, establishes you, gives you a name. But what you don't say, distinguishes you the more.I sat an entire evening in a Pullman talking to a stranger. He looked like a priest, talked like a college professor, and knew so many actors and actresses that I thought that he was a man of the stage. Then he told me about all the great magicians of his day, most of whom he said he knew intimately. He told me of their tricks and much about their private lives. Magic was a hobby of his. I even imagined that he, too, might be a magician. Before retiring for the night I asked him what his business was. He replied that he was a coffee salesman!What you don't say may stamp you as dumb—but people will think that you are wise!

Murder on the Bluff

By ESTHER TYLER

SYNOPSIS: First, the mysterious shooting to death of attractive Jude Blinshop makes us all jittery on this wild, stormy week-end, at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunt. A series of strange attacks is apparently explained when we find below the bluff the body of Michael's insane father, supposedly long since dead. But our relief is short-lived: Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder by an unseen hand. Who held the gun?
Mike; the Skipper, his tall, twenty-year-old aunt; Gay Palmer, his red-headed sweetheart; Higgins, the old butler; William, the chauffeur; Cook; Annie, the maid; myself?

Chapter 23

THE CASE AGAINST ME

When Higgins finally spoke, his voice was cool and collected. "This is horrible, Mr. Jimmie.""Yes," My plan crystallized.
"Wait here, Higgins."I went into the Skipper's room and, after considerable rummaging, located a box of bath powder. Holding the gun by the tip of the barrel with my fingers carefully wrapped in the handkerchief, I dusted the thing liberally with powder and then blew.A faint white film remained on the shiny metal, but it was an even film. There were no fingerprints on the revolver. And Higgins, who had possessed the presence of mind to wrap his own hand in a handkerchief before touching it, had just attempted to thrust the thing into my outstretched bare hand."Until the police arrive," he had said.That second shooting was one of the most sinister episodes of those days and nights of terror. In broad daylight with everyone up and about we had hitherto considered ourselves safe. It was puzzling, too, for it seemed to represent an inexcusable slip in the killer's otherwise workable plans. He had managed to convince the entire household of the guilt of Norman Farrington who would never be able to disprove the charge. Why had he ruined all his work and why, of all people, would he shoot M. Farrington?Martha herself had little evidence to offer. She had just gotten out of bed, she explained, with the intention of dressing for lunch. As she sat down at the dressing table, someone knocked at the door.
Thinking that it was the Skipper, she called out, "Come in," without looking up. And that was all she remembered. She thought she caught a glimpse of a man's coat sleeve reflected in her mirror, but she wasn't sure.We could get nothing more out of her. She was panic-stricken and hysterical. There was no side-stepping the fact that my presence in the room was singular, to put it mildly. The gun which Higgins had found was undoubtedly the weapon used. One bullet had been fired from it. And anyone could see that it would have been a simple thing for me to have fired from the door, deposit the revolver on the stand in the hall, and be the first person on the scene of the accident.

It Looks Bad For Me

We sat in the living room, waiting for the Skipper's report on the effect of the sleeping powder which she had just administered to her sister. Higgins had been ordered to tell the other servants that the revolver had gone off while I was cleaning it, and that no one had been hurt. As Gay pointed out, we might at least have some decent meals for the next few hours. We were apt to need them.Gay and Michael sat close together. I think she was telling him the Skipper's story. In any case, he was listening intently, although his eyes strayed to me from time to time, clouded with something that puzzled me.I had plenty of time to review the facts and to appreciate the overwhelming extent of my danger. In the first place, I had once been in love with Jude Blinshop. In the second place, no one had seen me on Friday night from the time the Skipper left me until Michael roused me at something after 11o'clock. True, I had been in full sight of everybody when Cook had screamed from the kitchen, but it seemed fairly evident that Mike's father had been responsible for that melee in the kitchen. Certainly it would explain his reentry into the house.I had been in the living room alone when Gay and Mike heard prowling footsteps in the hall. William had clearly suspected me of hitting him over the head and dumping him down the back stairs.
My own experience at that time could be explained all too easily by a clever prosecutor. There would always be Norman Farrington for him to fall back upon whenever his logic hit a snag.I had been the first upon the scene of the latest crime, found there by several witnesses. No one but myself could account for my actions after I left Higgins downstairs. Good Lord! That conversation with Higgins! A first-year student of law could make considerable out of that! Murderer, warned that suspicion still exists, becomes desperate, etc. My head was buzzing with it. Over and over again I reviewed that ghastly moment with Higgins in the upper hall, when by the fraction of a second, I had escaped putting the final, damning link in the chain of evidence—my own finger-prints on the fatal weapon.

A Faustian Mephisto

Higgins announced lunch rather early, explaining that Miss Farrington was not yet asleep and that Miss Barbara had ordered him to serve at once. But the Skipper's plan failed utterly. Far from creating diversion, lunch was an even more depressing experience than doing nothing in the living room.
Without either the Skipper or M.
Farrington to keep us going, we picked at food in uncomfortable silence. I could not bear to look at Higgins. Had he offered me that gun deliberately, knowing that it had already been wiped clean of the murderer's fingerprints? Would he have denied the entire episode in court?I thought that he would. In my imagination the frail old man was beginning to take on the proportions of a Faustian Mephisto. What had he started to tell me before he changed his mind? Anything? He might have been building up that chain of circumstantial evidence deliberately.Higgins was the owner of the gun which had in all probability killed Jude Blinshop and wounded M.
Farrington. Our searches had disclosed no other weapon in the house. Whoever used that gun on Jude must have cleaned and reloaded it before it was handed to Michael on Friday night. And who had as good an opportunity for doing that as Higgins?True, he had been with the rest of us when the episode in the kitchen transpired, and in the room with all the others when William and I met our fate. But in both those cases the active presence of the lunatic was not only possible but distinctly probable. The noiseless tread that had always seemed pleasant to me before suddenly became threatening and sinister. I jumped every time the man came near me with food.There was no longer any sense in dodging the fact that the murdered must be a recognized inmate of the house. The possibility of a second unknown wandering the Bluff in darkness was absurd. It was obvious that the person who shot M.
Farrington had known just where to find her, just where to dispose of his or her gun, just where to conceal himself or herself after the shot had been fired.

rington's sinister activities.

Homestake's 2 Million Gold Mystery Rivals the Legends Of Western Mine Smugglers

BY ROBERT GEIGER
AP Feature Service Writer

Lead, S. D.—Gold and greed again have woven a fantastic story of "high grading" in the west. This time the nation's richest gold mine has been the scene of the alleged thefts.

Roland K. Goddard, U. S. secret service head at Denver, says underworld gossip has it that $2,000,000 worth of yellow metal has been stolen from the famed Homestake mine here and whisked to a secret cache.

Five men are under arrest and the elusive "head man" in the plot, described by Goddard as a world-traveling soldier of fortune, is sought, but only $6,500 worth of stolen metal has been traced.

Listens in on Plot

Homestake officials deny they have lost anything like $2,000,000.

But miners' homes in Lead have been searched and officers report they have discovered gold hidden in gold fish bowls, in coffee cans and other receptacles, presumably secreted to be sold "when things cooled off."

This was but a trickle of gold dust compared to the fortune which men of the underworld are said to have plotted to steal from the high graders, then skip to Mexico and hide, Goddard indicates. From Mexico the metal might have been shipped back to the United States and sold as gold mined there.

Goddard planted a listening device in a rooming house and heard men plan, he says, to steal the gold from the men who had taken it from the Homestake. But he doubts that as much gold as they talked about could have been smuggled from the mine.

Many Ways to Sneak Out

Miners might have carried gold from the mine, however, secreting it in their clothing, their lunch pails and by other means, to carry to their homes and hide. Because of the United States gold act, prohibiting possession of gold and regulating its sale, the metal is hard to dispose of.

This caused the secret service to investigate reports that the gold was pooled in one cache for shipment to Mexico.

Five men, Goddard reveals, have admitted they plotted to steal this gold. But thus far Goddard has been unable to discover the "cache." Just how much gold has disappeared, authorities may never know. About $14,000,000 worth passes annually through the Homestake gates.

Can't Stop Thefts

The ore in the Homestake is low grade, running from $3 to $7 a ton. The best opportunity for the thefts occurs when a rich vein is struck. In the history of the Homestake this had happened seldom. But occasionally a nugget is found and it is comparatively easy for a miner to hide this in his clothing.

Nearly every famed mine in the west has been the target of high graders and mining men say it is impossible to stop them.

Fights Cap Return Of Movie Strikers

Hollywood, May 18 (AP)—An automobile was overturned and fist fights ensued Monday as 300 striking movie craftsmen returned to work.

Police dispersed combatants in a free-for-all fight that followed the crowding into the curb of a car carrying four Columbia studio laborers to work. One was injured.

In the melee headlights and windshields were smashed as some of the men brought car cranks into use. Police said three car loads of men overturned the laborers' machine.

Returning to work today were members of the culinary workers and the camera machinists crafts, two of the 11 crafts that walked out on the strike call April 30.

The Central Strike Committee of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts, sponsor of the walkout, said 5000 craftsmen and laborers still were on strike. Charles Kimberlin, speaking for the committee, said another truce proposal from producers had been vetoed.

Crafts still on strike, Kimberlin said, are the scenic artists, stationary engineers, plumbers, painters, molders, sheet metal workers, blacksmiths, studio utility workers and makeup artists.

HEN'S NEST FAILS AS LIBERTY BOND SAFE

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Because Mrs. Ada S. Lewis, of Independence, Missouri, thought a hen's nest was the safest place to hide a $50 Liberty Loan bond 17 years ago, it took a special act of congress Monday to get her money back.

The senate passed and sent to the White House a bill ordering the Treasury to redeem the rotted, water-soaked document, even though its serial number is no longer legible.

Senate attaches estimated that printing and passage of the bill and its accompanying reports cost a good deal more than Mrs. Lewis' bond.

Bridal Shower Given For Film Beauty

Mrs. Harold Lloyd (Mildred Davis) was hostess at a luncheon shower in Hollywood for Jeanette McDonald, singing film star, who is soon to become the bride of Gene Raymond, screen actor. Among those at the shower were (left to right) Irene Hervey, Mrs. Lloyd, Miss McDonald, Fay Wray and Mary Brian.

Mexico Gives Union Privileges To Convicts in District Prison

Mexico, D. F., May 18 (AP)—The Federal District penitentiary has adopted a minimum wage and granted union privileges in an experiment for rehabilitating hardened criminals.

The prisoners henceforth will be known as "natural biological units susceptible of correction," officials said Monday. They will work in the prison shops and live a life much like that of a free man.

Four hundred prisoners at the penitentiary engaged in a brief riot Monday, however, because a guard was discharged on charges of allowing them too many liberties. Order was restored quickly, and no one was injured.

The Department of Interior drafted the regulations with approval of President Lazaro Cardenas after the first Criminological Congress last year.

A prisoner at the institution will be psychoanalyzed to determine needed treatment. Then he will be classified as to criminal tendencies.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haverstock, York Springs, celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary Sunday. They were surprised by having their children and all of their sisters and brothers with them Sunday evening. Mrs. Haverstock wore her wedding dress. The couple received many gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Haverstock were married May 16, 1907, by the Rev. Elmer Deatrick, pastor of the Heidersburg Lutheran church.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haverstock, Miss Mildred Haverstock, William Haverstock, Martha Eickelberger, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haverstock, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Haverstock and children, Mildred, Ruth, Marie, Gene and Ray Haverstock, Mr. and Mrs. V. Ralph Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sills, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Coulson, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kaiper, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Knouse, the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth James, Mrs. Etta Deardorff, Mrs. Maude Noel, Mrs. Ethel Null, Miss Wanda Null, Mr. Weaver, Mrs. Isabelle Hendricks and son, Eugene, Miss Vivian Hess, George Brownawell, Miss Viola Herman, Charles Punt, Dolores Menchey, Blaine Miller, Mr. Sheely and Kenneth, Donald and Bobby Knouse.

Always Big Role

Now, the party says, "the middle classes have a just right to see that the social laws are not carried out to their prejudice. Without the consent of these classes, it would have been impossible for the laboring people to fight against the big employers' divine rights. The latter wanted and still want the end of democratic institutions." The radical-socialists further assert that if it had not been for the middle classes the laborers would be living under a dictatorship. Having effectively barred the road to one dictatorship, they say they have no intention of letting the workers create one of their own.

Another trump, they believe, lies in the historical role played by the inhabitants of Main street. In previous revolutions, the average people have fathered reforms which got out of hand at times. But it was always these people who brought things back to normal and who took command when extremists went too far.

Susquehanna Synod Opens Convention

One hundred and twenty-five clergy and laymen of the Susquehanna synod of the Lutheran church were in attendance at the opening session of the synod's fourteenth annual convention which opened this morning at the Lutheran Theological seminary here with the president, the Rev. Dr. I. S. Sasman, Williamsport, delivering the annual sermon. The service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. E. Hadwin Fischer, of the seminary.

The first business session convened this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, following a meeting of the executive committee. Officers' reports and reports of committees were being heard. Officers were to be elected late this afternoon.

LaSalle V-8 BREAKS STOCK CAR RECORD for Indianapolis Speedway

Ralph DePalma Averages 82.18 Miles Per Hour in 500-Mile Run

ON MONDAY, MAY 10TH, a stock model LaSalle V-8—running under A.A.A. supervision—broke the stock car record for the Indianapolis Speedway!

With Ralph DePalma at the wheel, the distance was covered in 366 minutes—an average of 82.18 miles per hour! This is almost 8 miles per hour faster than the original Speedway record established by racing cars!

In spite of the record time, it was not a trial for speed. The run was made to prove LaSalle's endurance, roadability, safety and handling ease.

At the finish of the run, DePalma wired the Cadillac factory as follows:

"I finished third in the original Indianapolis race, and I was physically and mentally exhausted. Today, I feel fine after completing the same 500 miles in a LaSalle at a much faster pace. I never drove a car that performed in so effortless a fashion or handled so easily. My hat is certainly off to LaSalle!"

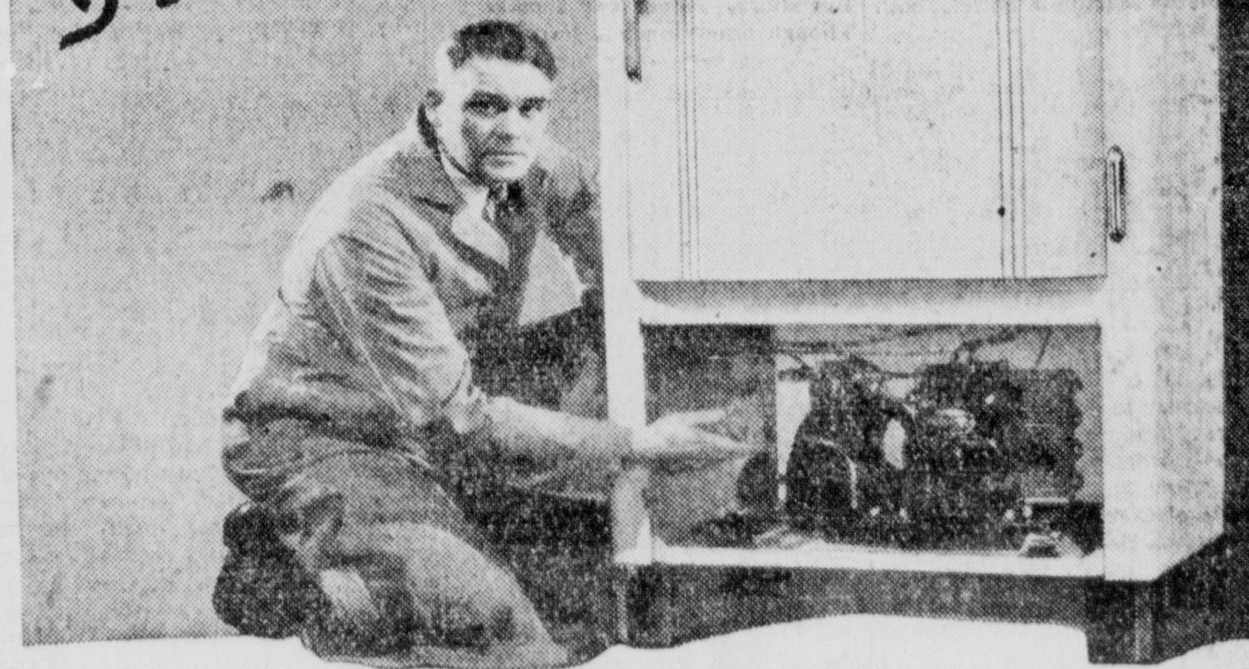

Wouldn't you like to drive a car that can thrill a veteran driver like Ralph DePalma? If so, come in today. We will gladly place a LaSalle at your disposal.

"I want to talk to you about this refrigerating unit.

"Important? I'll say it is! You'll say so, too, if you'll bear in mind that, after all, you will want your refrigerator to work just as perfectly five, seven or even ten years from now as it does when it's new.

The 1937 Copelands are now on display. Among them you will find a model which ideally fits your requirements, and—best of all—your purse.

Arkansas to Try
"Crime Tourist"

Albany, N. Y., May 18 (AP).—Arkansas won Monday night a three-state battle for the privilege of trying Lester Brockelhurst, midwestern "crime tourist," for murder.

New York's Governor Lehman announced following a conference with authorities from Illinois, Texas and Arkansas, that he would sign extraditions papers sending the youth to the last state.

There, Brockelhurst will face trial for the slaying of Victor Gates, wealthy Jonoke county plantation owner. Bernice Felton, 18, girlfriend arrested with the youth, will be tried for being an accessory to the murder.

After a review of all three cases presented by representatives of the three states "concerned," Lehman said, "I have decided to turn the defendants over to Arkansas. It seems to me that that state has the strongest case against them." He said he would sign the extradition papers at once.

REBELS ADVANCE LINES
ALMOST TO AMOREBIETA

Vitoria, Spain, May 18 (AP).—Insurgents besieging Bilbao Monday night pushed their lines within 500 yards of the important town of Amorebieta, ten miles southeast of their seaport-objective.

Making no attempt to enter the town, which officers said appeared deserted, the troops took positions to drive around it and gain the trunk highway leading to Bilbao.

Northeast of Amorebieta, the insurgents captured the town of Echano. The advance leaders said, left the troops facing the Basques triple line of trenches, part of Bi-bao's last ring of defense fortifications.

Amorebieta, which previously had been reported unofficially to have been armed, was seen to be more or less intact but it was believed the Basques had left as there was

HEALTHFUL SMALL-TOWN OUTLOOK ASCRIBED TO ROOSEVELT BY FARLEY

New York, May 18 (AP).—Postmaster General Farley, dedicating a new $375,000 branch postoffice building here Monday, ascribed to President Roosevelt a small-town outlook that is good for the county at large.

Farley, speaking at a luncheon in honor of postal officials after the dedicating ceremony, said:

"The fact that President Roosevelt was born and raised in a small town undoubtedly has some influence on his outlook which is good for the country at large because the whole country is made up of small towns."

Farley predicted regular transatlantic air mail within a year and said he anticipated gross postal revenues of approximately $720,000,000 this year.

New York, May 18 (AP).—Two

Astor came back into federal court which they seek to recover approximately $20,000,000 from the government.

POPE'S HEALTH
CAUSES CONCERN

Pontiff Fails to Respond to Invigorating Air of Summer Home.

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, May 18 (AP).—Physicians are keeping a close watch on Pope Pius' health because he has failed to respond to the invigorating air of his summer home here, prelates said Monday.

A semi-official note issued from the vatican declared the pontiff, who will be 80 on May 31, was experiencing some difficulty in breathing and speaking.

His holiness, bed-ridden for more than three months last winter, followed his usual Monday custom in holding no audiences, but he worked on documents in his private drawing room. It was said he probably would receive no one today, the "third feast of the Pentecost."

The announcement said:
"Alarmist rumors have again been spread on the state of the pope's health. No new occurrences have happened in recent days."
"Although there are no new facts or alarming symptoms, there is no doubt the general state of the pope has aroused some preoccupation." The pope has always been animated by the greatest energy and does not intend in any manner to limit his activities more than as already required following his illness.

Nevertheless his physique feels the burden which this limited activity also imposes.
"The phenomena principally noted are difficulty in breathing, abundant perspiration and sometimes difficulty in speaking."
"The health of the pope is watched with more attentive care and diligence than ever."

Rival Claimants Bow before You

HAS it ever occurred to you why the coronation of the King of England is so long deferred after his succession? The most important reason is to allow the Herald's College to investigate all claims of precedence and to decide in minutest detail the order of the procession into Westminster Abbey.

But here, daily, a process strangely similar goes on.
Here rival claimants to precedence also come forward.
They are the manufacturers, the merchants, the department stores, the business houses, the insurance companies. They advance the cause of their products or of their services with integrity and conviction. And their advertising is their heraldry.

In The Gettysburg Times you may see their merits and their claims, their histories and their reputations put forth. And you may act as the Herald's College, the court of final decision. It will pay you to study the advertisements so that you may know what should come first in rank and so that you may regard the trade-mark as a herald regards the coat of arms.

U. S. CALLS HALT TO PARIS FLIGHT

Needless Risk of Life, Decries State Department; May Start From Canada.

Paris, May 18 (AP)—The French Air Ministry Monday night studied the possibility of designating a new starting point for the projected New York to Paris transatlantic air race after United States officials announced that they would not issue licenses to entrants.

French officials said a take-off from Canada was being considered. They added no decision had been reached and there was still a chance that the French government would bow to wishes of American officials and call off the race.

The race first was proposed to start on May 29, tenth anniversary of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's historic transatlantic flight. Later it was decided to permit entrants to take off any day in August.

The air derby, sponsored by the Aero Club of France, provides prize money of 3,000,000 francs supplied by the French government.

Colonel J. Maurice Johnson, United States assistant secretary of commerce, announced at Lakehurst, New Jersey, licenses for entrants would be refused because the commerce department considered transoceanic air races "extra hazardous."

"We are trying to institute transatlantic flying and don't want to jeopardize it," he said. "We are in commercial flying that has no thrills."

LOVE FLIES OUT COURT WINDOW

Blonde Gladys MacKnight, 17 (left) and red-haired Donald Wightman, once her lover, had never a look for each other in court at Jersey City. They are charged with the hatchet slaying of the girl's mother last July, when police contend both attacked the woman who opposed the daughter's plans for a date. (Associated Press Photos)

WHERE DEATH STALKED BABES

Eighteen-year-old May Savage indicates the spot where she discovered the burned, blue-colored body of a little girl in the woods near Brookhaven, N. Y. The child's small brother, unconscious, lay nearby.

Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania (right) shakes hand with C.I.O. Organizer Maurice Maligner at the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation plant in Pittsburgh shortly before a strike affecting 27,000 workers was settled.

Lester Brockelhurst, paroled Illinois convict, and his sweetheart, Bernice Felton of Rockford, Ill., are shown with State Trooper Joseph Hunt, who arrested them at Brewster, N. Y., when he noticed a license plate was missing from their car. Brockelhurst admitted killing three men in a series of robberies, police said.

REBELS FLEEING ALBANIA TROOPS

Government Announces Loyal Soldiers Have Occupied Insurgent Stronghold.

Tirana, Albania, May 18 (AP).— The War Ministry announced Monday night that Government troops had occupied Argyrokastrro and ended a thirty-four-hour rebellion in the southern sector of the little kingdom of King Zog.

The populace greeted the troops
"with jubilation," the War Office said, as the rebels were believed to have fled into the Macedonian hills near the Greek border. They will be pursued, officers asserted.

The Government denied that the rebellion was against King Zog's program for liberalizing the country, his banishment of Mahammedan veils for women and of polygamy.

Documents taken from prisoners indicated the insurrection was of Communist origin, the Government insisted; it was confined to one sector and elsewhere the nation was calm.

There were many telegraphed affirmations of fealty to the monarch who has done much to reconstruct his country economically, with the aid of Italian financing.

Efen Toto, former Cabinet minister, was charged with leading the insurrection. His fate was not known, but the Albanian telegraphic agency said a brother, Ismet Toto, was killed.

The revolt began Saturday and many were reported killed or wounded in guerrilla skirmishes.

Joseph and Stephen Montgolfier gave France its first public balloon ascension in 1783.

St. Peter's Cathedral, Rome, has an area of 227,009 square feet, by far the greatest among the world's churches.
When one of the first balloons landed in Gonesse, France, in 1783, the superstitious villagers shot it and stabbed it with pitchforks.
